

What shall separate my love for you

What shall separate my love for you, dear heart
My love for you shall never cease, though we apart
Though the distance between be ever present
My love for you remains resonant
And although you say you don't love me
I know that you think of me, constantly
I know your body wants to be close in harmony with mine
And I believe that one day, we could be back together, in time
Once we said till death do we part
We forgot how to love, and need a new start
So I keep the faith, and believe for us
As a family, we should be forever I trust
