

Now that I've been close to you. I want you so much more. Now that I had the pleasure of holding your hands, and feeling the warmth of them, I want you more.

Since I've kissed you, since I've held you in my arms, my desire for you has grown all the more. Since I've had the pleasure seeing you laugh and smile, my longing for you has intensified. It's all that I can do, to be away from you even for a day even for a few hours.

Having learned more about you, I am completely committed to being your man. Having looked into your eyes, I've become more captivated by their beauty and warmth.

The thing is, when you find someone who makes you feel like no one else ever has, how do you not want more. How could I turn back now, how could I not try my best.

I know that things in my life right now, are in a shambles. I know that I am off balanced and irregular at this present. Yet, I'm striving to be close to you. I strive for your affection, by showering you with more and more. It is what I have an abundance of, right now.

I have all the time in the world for you. I have all the support that one man could give a woman. You have my heart. You have my attention. I pray for the maximum.

I've taken time to study the beautiful curves and surfaces of your lovely face. It is divine. You are carved from the finest Marble of the heavens. And then the breath of life breathed into you by the most High, himself. Your features were fashioned after that of the most beautiful of the goddesses.

Your beauty is wondrous, and only overshadowed by your tenacious wit and charm. I am always so pleased to be with you. You make me feel brand new. You make me so proud to be with you.

I long to kiss you. I long to kiss your sweet lips. I long to touch you. I want to hold you for a lifetime. Should I be blessed to have you as my love, I will cherish you as the gift of life that you are. I will love you, as no other has or ever would.

The thing about love, is that you never know where it's going to come from. You never know until you find yourself in it. And then, all you can do is run from it or embrace it. Sometimes loves comes in a form that you'd never expect. Sometimes it comes in the form of a lovely woman, who takes your breath away. Sometimes love comes in the form of a woman who's sense of humor is infectious.

Sometimes love comes in the form of lady who you feel so in tune with, that you feel as though she were created just for you. Every now and then you get blessed with another opportunity to be in love again. Then and again you get a chance to believe in love again. On occasion, you get to try love again. Sometimes, you win sometimes you lose. Sometimes the planets are aligned just for you. Sometimes on valentine's day, you find that the woman of your dreams has the so many things in common with you, that you know that there couldn't be any mistake about the love you've found.

Sometimes, you know that the challenges that lie ahead are no match for your determination to be with her. I feel that determination. I feel that passion for the precious flower that I have fallen for. I know that I will have a life with her. A life that results in a beach house, with my love dressed in linen, lounging around a tidal pool.

I know I will get to taste my love. I believe I will get to pleasure my love. I have faith that I will share love with the woman of my dreams, who happens to be an Angel sent from heaven. My meditations and prayers draw us closer together, although we are apart physically today. My feelings for her traverse the sky to caress her face.

I will wait as long as it takes. I will stand. I will not waiver. I will not falter. I will not leave my post. I will stay on the watch and continue to believe in love and in the vision of me and my beautiful Queen, together in love and in wedded bliss.
